Each video and discussion guide can be investigated on its own. There is a suggested grouping in the Table of Contents according to broad themes but any video and its discussion guide might be paired with another in a different themed section. The goal is to have facilitators of discussion and viewers find meaningful connections to the PLURAL+ materials in their own way. Some of the questions the Guides for the younger group may be asked in the older group at the discretion of the facilitator. And, while there are several more advanced questions for the older group, some may be adapted for the younger group if deemed appropriate by the leader of the discussion.
